

Visiting Scholar

Dr. Bridget O'Brien

Assistant Professor,
Office of Medical Education,
University of California, San Francisco

BIOGRAPHY

Dr. Bridget O'Brien, PhD, is an assistant professor in the Office of Medical Education at the University of California, San Francisco, where she teaches in the Health Professions Education Pathway and the Teaching Scholars Program. She also directs evaluation for the San Francisco VA Centre of Excellence for primary care education. Her current research focuses on workplace learning in the context of longitudinal integrated clerkships, continuity clinics, and interprofessional team-based care.

She received her BC from Cornell University, her master's from the Haas School of Business at the University of California, Berkeley, and her PhD from the Graduate School of Education at UC Berkeley. She was one of the three primary researchers for The Carnegie Foundation's national study of medical education and is a co-author of Educating physicians: A call for reform of medical school and residency.

Aug 5 - 8

PURPOSE OF VISIT

Dr. O'Brien will use her time at CHES to dedicate time to her writing, focusing primarily on her recent collaborations.

She also hopes to make progress on reviewing how concepts from Drs. Lave & Wenger have been taken up in medical education literature.

a place of mind
THE UNIVERSITY OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

CENTRE FOR HEALTH EDUCATION SCHOLARSHIP

ches.med.ubc.ca